WAYS AND MEANS.

The receipts frem customs for the last fiscal year as before stated, were upwards of forty-nine millions of dollars. Should our importations of foreign merchandise for the current and next fiscal years equal those of the past year, the revenue from that source for the three years ending 30th Juse, 1853 will have been about $1.50,000,000.

Aside from demands upon the Treasury for our new territories, this sum would have been sufficient to have met the ordinary expenses of the government, and to have ilquidated the entire public debt. Notwithstanding these extraordinary demands, there has been effected, since the first of December last a redemption of the registered debt, to the extent of $1.667.843 11.

During the next fiscal year the loan of 3d March, 1843, due lst July, 1853, must be provided for, and it is expected may be paid in cash out of the receipts from the usual sources of revenue. The amounts of the land fund to be invested, in accerdance with law, will probably amount to about $925,00. The old funded and unfunded debt, with the annual payments on account of the debt of the District cities, will probably amount to a turther sam of $61,800, making an aggregate proposed redemption of the public debt, during the next fiscal year, of $7,234.792 35.

The premiums paid on $2528.200 of certificates of government stock purchased at market rates amounted to $35.665 24, or at a cost of more than one eighth if the eatire debt purchased. These rates, if applied to the whole debt as it stood on the 29th November last, would require for its liquidation in addition to that amount, about the sum of $80,074,318 67. The probability is that increased rates will follow a known demand by the government.

It may well be questioned whether sound policy does not demand that some discretion shall be given to the Department to purchase, out of any available surplus revenue. Sound State stocks, when it can be done at or market prices, of the stock of the United States. In the opinion of this Department such a course is desirable, and it is submitted for such action thereon as may be thought expedient.

The language of the act of 28th September. 1850, extending the grants of lands, has prevented the warrants issued by virtue thereof from passing into the hands of the actual settlers by assignment; and, consequently, the receipts from that source have not been seriously affected by that act. The receipts from sales of the public lands, for the quarter ending 39th September last, indicate a revenue from that source for the current year of upwards of two millions of dollars. Any excess of receipts over the expenses connected therewith is already appropriated, and therefore those receipts, whether more or less, cannot affect the balance in the Treasury subject to appropriation at the end of the facal year. The greater or lers amount of public debt redeemed will depend upon the increase or diminution of such receipts. The revenue from imports, consequently, is the great source upon which the country has to depend for the means to carry on the government.

The unexpected addition to the boundaries of our country, covering an area of more than five hundred and twenty-six thousand square miles, has without doubt been one cause of the large and sudden increased receipts from custom duties. Our expenses consequent upon such acquisition have more than kept puce with the increase of receipts, and they will remain permanent charges upon the freasury. Revenue to meet these required expenditures must be provided for, and that during a peried when our public debt is meturing it cannot for one moment be thought advisable to presuppose a renewal of any portion of such debt, and therefore it should be our aim to obtain revenue sufficient to meet these maturing itabilities, in addition to the annual expenses of receipts of $63.0000. The expenditures of $647.097.41.
